Fresh web

Security Technologies Group (STG) has a revamped website featuring a fresh design, to give critical product information. The site incorporates a fledgling e-commerce section as a preparation to full online sales. You can read best practice, "how to" articles, data sheets, catalogues, brochures and customer case studies. Denis Kane, director of Northamptonshire-based STG, said; "Internet users are now just clicks away from any information they need about us, our products and services including white papers, catalogues, brochures, presentations, data sheets and much more." □
